

membership

Eligibility for membership is open to Libraries and Information Services and is determined by the relationship of the parent organisation to the PPRR (Prevention, Preparedness, Response and Recovery) framework.

Member libraries have access to:

- Professional development opportunities
- Economic benefits of consortia
- Cost benefits of collection rationalization
- ALIESnet [ALIES union list of serials]
- Support from other member libraries
- ALIES e-list and website
- Online portal for sharing information contact us

For more information about ALIES, please contact your nearest member library.

A directory of member libraries is available on the ALIES website:

www.ema.gov.au/alies

information catalysts

about us

ALIES is a library network that collaborates to fulfil the information needs of the emergency sector throughout Australia and New Zealand by:

- Exchanging and sharing knowledge, skills and resources
- Maintaining a distributed Australasian emergency management collection
- Providing an expert information service

collections

ALIES library collections contain Australasian and international resources in Prevention, Preparedness, Response and Recovery (PPRR).

This includes:

- Policing, criminology, security, intelligence and law
- Science and environment
- Hazards, disasters and epidemics
- Fire, ambulance and emergency services

The ALIES distributed collection consists of:

- Books and reports
- Journals
- Multimedia
- Photographs
- Databases

services

Through an ALIES member library you can access:

- The collective expertise of emergency management information specialists
- More than 35 unique information collections in member libraries
- A gratis interlibrary loans network
- The emergency management expertise of member organisations
- National and international emergency management networks

information catalysts